
Appendix D. Upgrading to 4.0

While version 4.0 includes a few non-compatible API changes, it is very unlikely that anyone's code would have used any of those parts of the API since they generally required information that would only be available inside the library. In the unlikely event that you should run into trouble, please see the ChangeLog. See also Appendix A, Release Notes, page 43 for a complete list of the non-compatible API changes made in this version.